Definitions, Inclusions, and Conditions:

CPoW LPCA = CPoW Livestock Processors Cooperative Association, also known as the CPoW Co-op

HCW=Hot carcass Weight and in this usage shall be defined as: the unchilled carcass weight taken shortly after slaughter and following removal of the hide, head, gastrointestinal tract, and internal organs.

HCW is approx. 50-55% of the live weight for cattle, sheep & goats; 65-70% for Pigs. This ratio may vary depending on a number of factors such as age, breed, sex and body condition of the animal.

Cattle prices do not include the brand inspection fee, currently $4.

Listed prices are minimums. The final price may be adjusted by CPoW LPCA's representative on site at time of slaughter.

Adjustments to prices will be based on additional processing time required and may include charges for USDA overtime.

Animals presented for slaughter in an unsatisfactory condition may be refused by the USDA inspector &/or a CPoW LPCA representative.

Animals in an unsatisfactory condition (according to CPoW LPCA's representative) that are acceptable to the USDA, (e.g. filthy animals, no "kill strip" on sheep) will incur additional processing fees at the facility's normal hourly rates and a $20/animal penalty.

Animals that are judged by CPoW LPCA's representative as unable to be safely handled (e.g. extremely large or unruly) may be refused.

The animal owner is responsible for prompt removal & hauling of any animal that, for any reason whatsoever, cannot be slaughtered.
